Annual Report 2018

MESSAGE FROM THE FOUNDER

Slogans catch attention.

But consistent work builds change.

In Ukraine, slogans alternate. About Ukraine, stereotypes rule.

But systemic change happens. A new generation has grown up. They struggle, they fail, but they keep going. Some leave, but some come back. An even younger cohort is already here.

Yes, old power centers remain in Ukraine; yes, often words of transformation only mask the bad ways of the past.

But real change is already becoming visible. This is not the same country as it was.

The new will win.

Ukrainians can build a fresh model of a free and fair democracy, economy and society.

If we ditch our Soviet and post-Soviet baggage decisively, it makes us free to create.

Europe struggles to reform an overly complicated system.

We can even jump to the front of this process.

The new generation of Ukrainians can inspire all of Europe.

I invested in a new generation, and in a society and business for the future, over the past decades. If this helped and helps the new Ukraine to emerge, I am very grateful and happy.

Victor Pinchuk

Providing centralized services to war veterans, security sector employees (police and rescue workers), their relatives and loved ones, members of military families and families of missing persons, and victims of war, Veteran Hub also offers support for their reintegration into society.

ABOUT PINCHUKARTCENTRE

The PinchukArtCentre was founded in September 2006 by businessman and philanthropist Victor Pinchuk. It is one the largest and most dynamic private contemporary art centres in Central and Eastern Europe. With over 3 million visitors, the PinchukArtCentre has become an international hub for contemporary art, developing the Ukrainian art scene while generating critical public discourse for society as a whole.

For more than a decade, the PinchukArtCentre has provided free access to new ideas, perceptions and emotions. Its exhibition program investigates national identity in the context of international challenges. It engages the public in a dynamic dialogue through a full range of educational and discursive events.

DEMOCRACY ANEW?

"It [exhibition] also reminds us, through its inclusions and elisions, that the art of our moment must produce dialogue—a pertinent message to fledgling democracies worldwide."

Christianna Bonin, Art Forum (USA)

"I want a dyke for president." This was the start of a poem by Zoë Leonard called "I want a President" as you were entering the PinchukArtCentre's summer exhibition Democracy Anew? Although written more than two decades ago in the USA, it has lost no relevance either for the US or for Ukraine.

A year ahead of the presidential and parliamentary elections in Ukraine, the exhibition provoked more than 200,000 visitors with critical questions about our democratic model, its failures, challenges and the threats it faces.

Together with an engaging public program of lectures, talks and films, it made the PinchukArtCentre a hotspot for critical reflection on the political realities of our time.

The exhibition included works from, among others, Francis Alÿs, Allora & Calzadilla, Maurizio Cattelan, Olafur Eliasson, Damien Hirst, Takashi Murakami and Luc Tuymans.

INVESTING IN UKRAINIAN HISTORY

“But arguably PinchukArtCentre’s most important work is what goes on behind the scenes. PinchukArtCentre is helping a new generation to get a clearer sense of Ukraine’s art historical legacy.”

Tom Jeffreys, THE WEEK (UK)

The PinchukArtCentre’s Research Platform on Ukrainian art is building a future for Ukraine by mapping and understanding Ukrainian art history. This is resulting in the creation of a living archive of Ukrainian art and a first book, published in 2018: “Parcommune: Place, Community, Phenomenon.”

Alongside systematic articles and discussions, we created an active and engaging discourse through two exhibitions that drew upon our research while revitalizing and reevaluating Ukrainian art.

“A Space of One’s Own”, on the place of women in 20th century Ukrainian art, responded to the Ukrainian masculine dominated art world, where the position of women and their importance has long been neglected. The second exhibition “Red Book: Soviet Art in Lviv in the 80s and 90s” was the first large study exploring artistic life of the 80s and 90s in Lviv and its relation to Soviet art.

INVESTING IN UKRAINIAN FUTURE

“The PinchukArtCentre Prize is one of the most prominent events for the domestic art scene [...]. For young artists, this is an incredibly important opportunity.”

Alisa Lozhkina, bit.ua (UA)

In 2018, we presented the fifth edition of the PinchukArtCentre Prize and celebrated 10 years of its existence.

20 artists were selected out of 650 applications and the shortlist was exhibited in PinchukArtCentre, with almost 90.000 people visiting the exhibition.

The winner, Anna Zvyagentseva, received $10,000 and was automatically shortlisted for the Future Generation Art Prize 2019.

Two special prize winners, Mykola Karabinovych and the group Yarema Malashchuk and Roman Himey each received production support.

The prizes were awarded in Kyiv by an international jury consisting of Björn Geldhof, artistic director of the PinchukArtCentre; Zhanna Kadyrova, artist; Alicia Knock, curator of the Center Pompidou; Viktor Misiano, curator, editor-in-chief of the edition “Artistic magazine” and Daniel Muzyczuk, curator of the Muzeum Sztuki.

CRADLES OF HOPE

"The highly advanced medical equipment which we received from the Victor Pinchuk Foundation enables us to provide high quality respiratory and infusion therapy at the neonatal intensive care unit, contributes to the best nursing of preterm babies with very low weight and reduces the perinatal, early neonatal and infant mortality rates."

Ihor Potapov, chief medical officer at the Lviv Regional Clinical Perinatal Centre

CRADLES OF HOPE

Since 2006, the Victor Pinchuk Foundation has created 34 cutting edge neonatal centers throughout Ukraine to save the lives of premature babies. The Cradles of Hope program is building this network of neonatal centers in existing state hospitals. The program provides high-tech medical equipment, training for doctors and nurses, IT networks and technical support.

In 2018, the Foundation opened a new Cradles of Hope center in Lviv and held its Annual Neonatal Conference, where leading international specialists in neonatology from the USA, Norway, Switzerland, the United Kingdom, and Austria shared their expertise with 150 neonatologists from all over Ukraine.

Since the program's launch, 34 centers have been equipped and 1,475 healthcare professionals from all regions of Ukraine have been trained. 47,441 infants have been saved thanks to the program.

UKRAINIAN PHILANTHROPIC MARKETPLACE

"ubb.org.ua is a unique combination of ideas and people who change people's lives every day. It creates a culture of charity and shows everyone that helping is simple."

Svetlana Panaiotidi, State
Commissioner of the Antimonopoly
Committee of Ukraine

UKRAINIAN PHILANTHROPIC MARKETPLACE

The Victor Pinchuk Foundation created and supports the first and biggest philanthropic online fundraising platform in Ukraine, the Ukrainian Philanthropic Marketplace (UBB, ubb.org.ua).

By December 2018, over 198 million hryvnias had been raised on UBB to save lives and support philanthropic projects in numerous areas. More than 3,800 projects by 120 accredited NGOs have been supported via UBB.

UBB allows for transparent, accountable and convenient giving to thoroughly vetted NGOs and individual projects. It helps change the landscape of charity in Ukraine, where historic mistrust and the fear of fraud have prevented many from giving support beyond their family and circle of friends.

UBB has received various national awards, such as the “Best Ukrainian/International Charity Fund” in 2013-2018, as well as the “Innovations in Charity Award-2014”. In 2016, it was recognized as the “Most Effective and Helpful Philanthropic Project in Ukraine.” In 2018, UBB was celebrated as the “Most Transparent and Public Philanthropic Organization in Ukraine.”

BABYN YAR HOLOCAUST MEMORIAL CENTER

"It is extremely important for us to fulfill our moral duty to those who perished, who survived, and who risked their lives to help. It is also necessary to fulfill our moral obligations to our children. They must know history, not to repeat its mistakes, and live in a better world. During Soviet times, the Holocaust was silenced. They thought that we should not discuss this story. We should also give a lesson on the need to speak the truth. And this is how our country and nation will become stronger, not weaker."

Victor Pinchuk, BYHMC Supervisory Board Member

BABYN YAR HOLOCAUST MEMORIAL CENTER

The Victor Pinchuk Foundation supports the Babyn Yar Holocaust Memorial Center (BYHMC), a non-profit educational institution with a mission to document and commemorate the Holocaust and in particular, the Babyn Yar mass shootings of September 1941. Thus, the Center contributes to the creation of a more resilient and democratic society and to the peaceful coexistence of future generations.

The BYHMC is slated to become the largest Holocaust memorial center in Eastern Europe and the first major complex on the territory of the former Soviet Union.

On September 29, 2016, the BYHMC commemorated the 75th anniversary of the shooting execution of 33,771 Jews in just two days at Babyn Yar, one of the most notorious atrocities of World War II. On this day, the Initiative Group of the BYHMC signed a Declaration of Intent to create a memorial center.

In 2018, an international design competition for the Center was launched. BYHMC's ambition is to become a national and international benchmark project that brings the landscape and memorial park in synergy with iconic architecture and a unique visiting experience

JEWISH COMMUNITIES AND SUPPORT FOR AWARENESS OF THE HOLOCAUST

"By granting the Sheptytsky Award to Mr. Pinchuk, we acknowledge the compelling aspirations of contemporary Ukrainians to build a tolerant and just society for all citizens."

Alti Rodal, Co-Director,
Ukrainian-Jewish Encounter

JEWISH COMMUNITIES AND SUPPORT FOR AWARENESS OF THE HOLOCAUST

For more than 12 years, the Victor Pinchuk Foundation has supported Ukraine's Jewish community and contributed to sustainable interethnic understanding in Ukraine and to nationwide comprehension of the Holocaust tragedy.

For his contribution to bringing Jewish and non-Jewish Ukrainians closer together and for his support for Jewish communities in Ukraine, Victor Pinchuk received the Metropolitan Andrey Sheptytsky Award in 2014.

In 2006, a documentary about the Holocaust in Ukraine, "Spell Your Name", was co-produced by Steven Spielberg and Victor Pinchuk with the USC Shoah Foundation Institute. Over the past 12 years, the Foundation has supported, among others, the Joseph and Fanny Tsindlikht private pre-school in Dnipro and the Yad Vashem International School for Holocaust Studies, an event organized by the Jewish Confederation of Ukraine to commemorate the 75th Anniversary of the Babyn Yar tragedy, and the exhibition "Holocaust by Bullets" about the mass shootings of Jews by German soldiers, that was shown in several Ukrainian cities.

TONY BLAIR INSTITUTE FOR GLOBAL CHANGE

"The danger of Western politics is that, without a powerful centre ground offer, the two extremes of the debate go into uncompromising confrontation. This is dangerous because if it persists over time, then democracy loses its appeal. We have to show people feeling left behind that there is a way through the challenge of change."

Tony Blair, Prime Minister of the United Kingdom (1997-2005)

TONY BLAIR INSTITUTE FOR GLOBAL CHANGE

The Tony Blair Institute for Global Change (TBI), an international partner of the Victor Pinchuk Foundation, aims to help make globalisation work for the many by addressing some of the most difficult challenges in the world today.

Its Renewing the Centre program seeks to revitalise the centre ground of Western politics by building practical policy solutions to address these challenges and help equip today's leaders to combat the rising tide of populism. Technology is at the forefront of the way the world is changing around us and TBI has set out a series of comprehensive proposals for how governments can harness the benefits for the public good while mitigating the risks. Tony Blair has spoken in various forums on these issues, including the Web Summit and the Yalta European Strategy (YES) Annual Meeting in Ukraine.

Since its inception in Ukraine, over 13,000 students in around 230 schools have benefitted from the innovative Generation Global program by learning the essentials of dialogue in the classroom. Around 4400 students also participated in 870 global video conferences TBI facilitated with other students around the world and it have trained over 700 teachers on the pedagogy of dialogue.

UKRAINE ELECTIONS TASK FORCE

“Ukraine is ground zero in election interference. There is no doubt that Russia has a stake in the elections where the choice is to stay the course on its reformist and western path, or to backslide. Moscow will deploy the full playbook of measures to spread confusion and fear. We cannot allow this to happen. This is why we were pleased Victor Pinchuk had the vision to convene a task force to help protect Ukraine from interference and raise awareness in the West about what the Kremlin is doing here.”

Anders Fogh Rasmussen, Co-chair of the Transatlantic, Commission on Election Integrity

UKRAINE ELECTIONS TASK FORCE

In September 2018, the Atlantic Council, the Victor Pinchuk Foundation and the Transatlantic Commission on Election Integrity launched the Ukrainian Election Task Force (UETF) to track and expose foreign interference in the Ukrainian Presidential elections in March 2019.

Working with other Ukrainian institutions – Detektor Media, the Razumkov Center and StopFake – the three partners created a rapid-response team with the ability to monitor, evaluate and disclose the full range of foreign subversive activities in Ukraine and to propose suitable responses.

To raise awareness of the issue in Ukraine and in the West, UETF launched an online dashboard providing a real-time index of efforts to interfere in Ukraine's democratic process.

By exposing foreign interference, UETF provided Ukrainians with tools to check outside efforts to influence their vote, to establish the facts, and to cast their ballots for a better future for Ukraine.

YALTA EUROPEAN STRATEGY

"Ukraine has made tremendous progress. In the last four years, Ukraine has found its identity, something that was not clear before that. And Ukraine has become a dynamic European country in the process."

Kurt Volker, U.S. Special Representative for Ukraine Negotiations (2017-2019), U.S. Department of State

"Corruption is killing more children than HIV/AIDS or malaria. Corruption kills more kids, but there is a vaccine for corruption. It's called transparency, it's called open government, and the civil societies and the youth."

Bono, U2 frontman

This was yet another contribution by YES towards integrating Ukraine with world while helping young Ukrainians to build a new Ukraine.

Furthermore, at the 15th YES Annual Meeting the PinchukArtCentre presented contemporary art works, including "Wave UFO" by Mariko Mori as a symbol for the future, a fragment from the large painting by Olafur Eliasson "Whenever the rainbow appears", which was used as the main visual element for the YES Dining Hall, and an exclusive collaboration with Takashi Murakami, who created a painting titled "Ukraine: War & Peace" (ウクライナ:戦争と平和), a diptych depicting flowers and skulls on the colors of the Ukrainian state flag.

DAVOS UKRAINIAN BREAKFAST

Stephen Sackur, Presenter, HARDtalk, BBC World News, moderated the discussion.

SECURITY ROUNDTABLE

“Ukraine plays a very important role in the world in the context of the development of techniques of warfare. Ukraine is a kind of Petri dish where the Russian government has tested various kinds of techniques and strategies, different forms of warfare, new ways of using cyber and disinformation campaigns... I see Ukrainians as the people who best understand the subject and who will come up in the future with the best solutions. ”

Anne Applebaum, expert on International Affairs, Pulitzer Prize-winning author

OPEN UKRAINE FOUNDATION

“The 11th Kyiv Security Forum celebrates a milestone in the history of Ukraine – 100 years of Ukrainian statehood. A century ago, the Ukrainian nation declared Independence. In their new state, Ukrainians finally acquired the right to a future of their own. History, though, arranged a different path, a path where we Ukrainians were not able to remain independent. However, history tends to be fair to those who struggle, and we have returned to us the status of being an independent state.”

Arseniy Yatsenyuk,
Founder of the Open

ORGANIZATIONAL AND FINANCIAL HIGHLIGHTS

The Victor Pinchuk Foundation was established in 2006, bringing together the various lines of philanthropic activities Victor Pinchuk had been developing over the previous 12 years. The Victor Pinchuk Foundation combines two legal entities: one not-for-profit UK entity, "The UK Office of the Victor Pinchuk Foundation", which serves as the international representative office and facilitates the Foundation's international activities, and one charity not-for-profit organization registered under Ukrainian charitable law (Ukrainian Charitable Organisation "Foundation of Victor Pinchuk – Social Initiative", which covers various activities in Ukraine.

All the activities of the above foundations, hereinafter collectively referred to as "The Victor Pinchuk Foundation", are governed by one management team. Reporting to the founder on an annual basis, management prepares a combined statement of cash receipts and disbursements, which presents the cash receipts and disbursements of these two foundations, together with a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information ("the Combined Statement"). The Combined Statement for 2018, audited by Ernst & Young Audit Services LLC, was issued on 22 May 2019. A full set of the Combined Statement together with Independent Auditors' Report can be obtained at request from the Victor Pinchuk Foundation.

The Foundations receive donations primarily from legal entities for the purpose of funding various charitable and social projects and making charitable donations.
